MONEY.

There are two chief classes of modern money: metallic money and paper money, which is sometimes called credit money.

The bulk and weight of cheaper metals have rendered them unfit for use as money. Gold and silver are the fittest materials for money. Why? 1. They are beautiful and easily distinguished in color. 2. They are hard enough to receive and retain the impress of the mint in coinage. 3. On account of their great intrinsic value. 4. There is almost enough gold and silver to supply the money needs of the world. 5. They are so nearly indestructible that they may be hoarded without danger of loss. 6. The value of gold and silver fluctuates so little and so slowly that in periods of considerable length they may be said to be fixed in value. There are many other reasons why gold and silver are the best suited metals for money, but space is limited.

The question now is, whether gold or silver, or both, shall be made legal tender. Countries that use both gold and silver as legal currency have a double standard. This standard is in use in the United States, France, Italy, Russia, Mexico, Japan and Spain. The single gold standard prevails in Great Britain, Germany and Portugal. Those using the silver standard are India, China and Australia.

The circulation of money in the United States (1881) was $1,529,548,612, money per capita $30.49. In Great Britain $901,596,988, with $25.57 per capita. Germany $884,690,235, with $19.56 per capita. India $1,070,874,880, with $5.60 per capita. France $1,989,390,621, with $53.90 per capita.

The countries having a small amount of money per capita will usually be found to have large masses of population in an ignorant or barbarous state.

Paper money consists of a printed promise to pay to the holder the sum of money named in the promise, and which is obtainable on demand, in exchange for the paper itself. It is readily taken in place of money and it serves all the purposes of money as an instrument of purchase and of payment. Paper money is of two kinds, having two origins, credit money and representative money.

Credit money consists of certificates of deposit issued by the government or by banks, and promising to pay on demand the sums of money named in the bills.

Representative money consists of certificates of deposit issued by the government or some corporation which receives gold or silver from any depositor and gives him in exchange a certificate for the amount. These certificates represent money actually on deposit and to be had by the holder of the certificate on demand. The greenbacks and national bank notes are credit money, being only promises to pay; the gold and silver certificates are representative money.

The main difference between the two classes of paper is that there can never be more representative money in circulation than there is coin on deposit, while the credit money may be issued to any extent the law will permit.

LOCALS.

Junior cap No. 7 is just the fit for Senior No. 5.

We have just received a copy of the "Vidette," published by the students of the Big Run High School in the local paper of that town. If possible, arrangements will be made for the exchange of papers.

"After previous consideration and much forethought, I now take the responsibility upon myself to spend the remaining part of this nickel, with which I was to get one yard of 4 cent calico." These are the exact words of a Sub Junior boy.

The High School got a move on last Monday when half of the students had their seats changed.

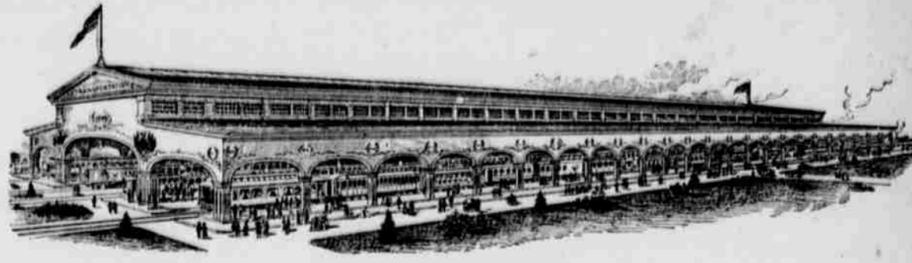

We did not intend to put any "roasts" in the BULLETIN this year, but as the Prof. tried to roast us first, we will have to put them in. Truth: 70 degrees is an agreeable temperature for a school room.

One of the Junior girls says she is mad because they didn't have a surprise party on her birthday.

Sallie Montgomery spent Sunday in DuBois.

The percentage of attendance for month ending Sept. 28 was 90.

We are pleased to note the fact that the first program of the Shakespearean Literary Society for this year was rendered in a creditable manner and that all the features scheduled were carried out. We hope that this record may continue.

It has been proven to the students of the High School that all are falsifiers. Therefore if any person should have occasion to call you a liar, do not become angry for he tells the truth.

In Jimmy's enumeration of noses, he failed to mention the Sub with the immense proboscis.

Physics and Physical Geography—great flesh reducers. Found at all High Schools.

One of the Seniors wishes she were a horse so she could eat horse chestnuts.

The Junior class elected the following class officers for this term: President, Ella Milliron; Vice-President, Frankie King; Secretary, Maud Hoon; Treasurer, Viola McGaw.

The "reddies" of the Sub-Juniors are rivals for the honor of "class beauty."

The library was opened to the High School last Monday.

The Senior class is reading "The Merchant of Venice" in Literature.

The librarians for the year are Misses Lois Robinson and Lydia Mellinger.

Miss Geist, teacher of Room 1, returned from a short visit to her home.

There will be a lecture course this year.

Rural District.

George Henry, of this place, spent Sunday at Salem.

John Syphrit and Frank Uplinger intended going to Pittsburg on business this month and will attend the exhibitions.

Grant Secrist, of this place, was taken to the hospital last week to be treated for typhoid fever.

Mrs. Wm. P. Deemer is ill with typhoid fever.

Mr. Hoover, of this place, is on the sick list.

There was a log rolling at James Vandervoort's last Monday. Good work was done.

Many friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Smith last Monday, it being Mrs. Smith's birthday. She received a number of presents.

The new board of trustees at the Syphrit M. E. church is talking of buying new stoves and more lamps, which are very much needed.

Henry Kennedy, of Kansas, who visited friends in this place the past few weeks, has returned to his home in the west.

Joseph Dickey was hauling sawdust last week. He says if it doesn't get too cold he will put up his ice this month.

Paradise.

Mrs. Jacob Strouse is visiting friends in Brookville.

Miss Edna Holman, of Sykesville, is visiting her sister, Mrs. C. E. Strouse.

Miss Tena Strouse, who was visiting friends in Pittsburg the past few weeks, returned to her home last Thursday.

A. L. Sheesley, who has been working at Big Run the past few weeks, was at home last Sunday.

Owing to the bad weather and other circumstances the writer did not put in his appearance last week.

P. M. Wells and family are moving to Reynoldsville this week where he will work in the tannery.

John Law will start his saw mill today on the Strouse lot at this place.

Excursions to Pittsburg.

The Allegheny Valley R'y has announced its excursion rates from points along the line, to Pittsburg on account of the Exposition at the latter place. They will be run on Wednesdays and will include the following dates: Sept. 13, 20 and 27, Oct. 4, 11 and 18. Tickets will be good four days returning, including date of issue, and include admission to the Exposition. The rate will be $4.00 from DuBois, Reynoldsville and intermediate stations and $3.90 from Brookville.

The kindness of some people is too much like an echo; it returns exactly the counterpart of what it receives, and neither more nor less.—Bacon.

The New Shoes . . . for Fall . . .

HOW SENSIBLE AND SERVICEABLE THEY LOOK!

Have you peeked into our show windows yet? They are there. Styles without end, for both sexes and all ages. The WALK-OVER SHOES for $3.50 are equal to any $5.00 shoe made, and our $2.50 line equals any you can buy for $3.00 elsewhere. Remember the place to get these shoes.
